

Andrew Gilligan

From: Andrew Gilligan
Sent: 30 June 2013 21:52
To: 'mustafa@lcc.org.uk'
Cc: 'ashok@lcc.org.uk'
Subject: Re: Relationship with less enthusiastic Boroughs

Hi Mustafa,

Tower Hamlets is talking to us (they send a representative to our Central London Grid meetings); Greenwich is the only outlier. Can you not do anything for the moment. They are being very silly but my feeling is that a public row will just drive them further into their bunker, so we are trying to resolve it diplomatically for the moment. That may change, and if it does I'll let you know. Andrew

From: Mustafa Arif [<mailto:mustafa@lcc.org.uk>]
Sent: Sunday, June 30, 2013 08:16 PM
To: Andrew Gilligan
Cc: Ashok Sinha <ashok@lcc.org.uk>
Subject: Relationship with less enthusiastic Boroughs

Hi Andrew,

There's been some discussion amongst our activist mailing lists about the lack of enthusiasm shown by the Royal Borough of Greenwich. I was wondering if there's anything specific that you think LCC could do in the Borough to help at this point in time?

As part of the discussion, questions were raised about Tower Hamlets. I'm under the impression that whatever animosities may exist with certain personalities at LBTH, there has been some mature co-operation over cycling. Could you confirm this? If so, are you willing to share which officers or representatives you are dealing with since our local branch (Tower Hamlets Wheelers) are struggling to identify the right people to speak with.

Many thanks,
Mustafa

--
Mustafa Arif

Elected Trustee / Vice Chair
London Cycling Campaign | <http://www.lcc.org.uk/>
Tel. [REDACTED] | <http://mustafa.arif.me.uk>

Make London more liveable for everyone
Sign the Love London, Go Dutch petition today: <http://lcc.org.uk/pages/go-dutch>

This message has been scanned for viruses.

Click here to report this email as spam.